ABOUT | ÉRICO MOREIRA

Erico Moreira comes from a family of musicians and artists and delved into the world of music from a very young age. At the age of 10, he was already accompanying his father, who is also a musician and composer from Paraty, RJ.

At 12, he moved to São Paulo, where he began working as a studio assistant for the renowned producer Xuxa Levy. Later, at 17, he primarily focused on producing soundtracks for advertising, television, and cinema, while also working as a sound engineer.

At the age of 24, he recorded his first solo album titled "Pindorama", in which he played almost all the instruments and took care of the recording and mixing of the album. In 2007, he moved to Barcelona, where he teamed up with the Barcelona-based singer Sara Pi to create a project that lasted 11 years, producing 3 albums, of which 2 were released by Sony Music Spain. In 2022, with a repertoire of over 100 original songs, he returned to his solo project and released "Dentro da Matrix", his second studio album.

LATIN GRAMMY

You can be a musician, composer, performer, producer, arranger, recording and mixing engineer, or take on other roles. However, there are very rare cases of artists who manage to encompass all these skills, as is the case with Erico Moreira, who assumed all these responsibilities in the release of his latest album, "Dentro da Matrix." It's no wonder that this album, produced entirely independently, was nominated for the 2022 Latin Grammy.

Produced, composed, and mixed by Erico, the album competed in the Best Recording Engineering Album category. In the same category were those responsible for the acclaimed releases of Liniker (Zé Nigro and Gustavo Ruiz) and Antonio Adolfo (Marcelo Saboia), as well as the influential pop star Rosalía (Manny Marroquin / Chris Gehringer).

After being nominated for the second consecutive time, Erico has just won a Latin Grammy in the Best Recording Engineering Album category. This time with the album "Canto a la Imaginación" by the Catalan singer Marina Tuset, for which he was responsible for production, recording, and mixing, while mastering was handled by engineer Felipe Tichauer.

Currently, he is recording his third studio album "Divina Presença," which is set to be released in May 2024.

DEEZER

"Dentro da Matrix" is the name of Érico Moreira's second solo album. Featuring songs of love and themes that address the world and the universe, Érico stands out by skillfully combining instruments, rhythms, and inspirations. Érico explains the title of his latest work: "The album's title comes from one of the songs, released in early 2021, which synthesizes much of what I've discovered about the nature of our reality over almost 10 years of study and reflection."

The album features the participation of artists and musicians from different nationalities and styles, such as the singer and songwriter from Guinea-Bissau, Mú M'bana; Spanish trumpeter Milena Casado; French trumpeter Raynald Colom, who has played with Manu Chao; percussionist Zé Luis Nascimento, who has collaborated with Chico César; and Portuguese violinist João Silva.

"Dentro da Matrix," released on May 27, 2022, also includes the song "Sin Gravedad," in which Érico collaborates with Catalan singer Marina Tuset.
